Abstract

Founded in 1969, the Freedom to Read Foundation (FTRF) was the American Library Association's response to its members' interest in having adequate means to support all individuals the right to express their ideas, read, and listen to the ideas of others. In support of First Amendment rights, the Foundation offers the Judith F. Krug Memorial Fund grants for organizations to support activities that raise awareness of intellectual freedom and prevent censorship. Staff at all types of libraries, schools, universities, and non-profit organizations are encouraged to apply.

Rolesville HS has expressed interest in applying. Other individual schools may apply.
