Details

A formal review and revision process was conducted for K-12 Health Education (H.E.) Georgia Performance Standards (GPS). The review process began with a public survey opportunity on May 9, 2019. Teacher and stakeholder survey results informed the revision process. Working, Advisory, and Academic Review Committees were created to draft K-12 H.E. Georgia Standards of Excellence (GSE). These committees included stakeholders from across the state and represented K-12 and post-secondary H.E. teachers and coordinators, business and industry, and other Health and Physical Education related organizations. Working Committees representing K-12 Georgia public school teachers, post-secondary staff, parents, and instructional leaders from across the state revised the standards based on the survey results, stakeholder expertise, and research. Advisory Committees consisting of representatives from the State Board of Education, representing teachers from the Working Committees, post-secondary staff, business and industry, parents, and instructional leaders reviewed the recommendations made by the Working Committees and provided additional suggestions for clarity and change based on feedback and survey recommendations. An Academic Review Committee, consisting of K-12 Working and Advisory Committees, K-12 instructional leaders, post-secondary educators, business and industry, and Department of Education leadership staff, reviewed and finalized the draft standards for presentation to the State Board of Education for permission to post for 30 days of public review and comment on June 18, 2020. A timeline for communication, educator professional learning, and resource development will follow the adoption of the revised standards. The projected date for implementation is school year 2021-2022.
