The Poetry Consultant is a poet who works for California Poets in the Classroom. She will teach lessons to the whole class and then will help individual students create their own poems. She will get students to write, using figurative language. She is especially skilled at getting reluctant writers to write. She will also provide lessons on performing their poems in public.		We are looking at ways for our students to create/write more, to create poems that they will be proud of, and to feel more confident or comfortable when presenting their work in front of the whole class.			Students will utilize their new learnings and improve their understanding of the art of poetry.
