RE: Evolv Technology - Sole Source Vendor

To whom it may concern:

This is to confirm that the Evolv Express® weapons detection system is a sole source product, developed, designed, and manufactured exclusively by the recommended supplier, Evolv Technology, in partnership with its U.S.-based contract manufacturer. Evolv Express uses a unique combination of AI software and advanced sensors to reliably detect dangerous weapons while significantly reducing nuisance alarms from harmless personal items. Evolv owns or co-owns six U.S patents around this technology and has sixteen additional pending or allowed patent applications. Since no other company makes a similar product utilizing our proven, proprietary technology, comparative performance and price competition data is not available.

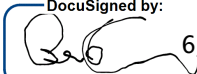

Unique performance characteristics of Evolv Express weapons detection system include:

- 10x Faster than metal detectors Screens over 4,000 people per hour. Visitors walk side-by-side or in groups through multi-lane entrances up to eight feet wide.
- Real-time Metallic Weapons Detection: The Evolv machine learning Cortex AI Software Platform instantly distinguishes between threats such as a gun, and commonly carried items.
- Frictionless Screening: No stopping is required. No emptying pockets or removing bags. Groups of people screened simultaneously; personal items do not require removal. Visitors simply walk through naturally.
- Targeted Searches, Reducing the Burden on Security Teams: Security operators see a real-time image on software enabled wireless tablets showing where the potential threat is located on person being screened by system.
- Smarter Over Time: Stay ahead of the threat landscape. With the Evolv Cortex AI Software Platform, Express becomes more intelligent as new threat profiles are discovered.
- Touchless Security Screening: Due to the low nuisance alarm rate, targeted searches, and the ability to search bags the Evolv Express limits the need for guards to come in close contact with visitors and the handling of the visitor's personal items. The Evolv Express supports social distancing by limiting lines for security screening and that are typically caused by the divestiture process that is associated with traditional security screening.
- Request for Assistance Feature: With a simple touch from an icon on Evolv Express provided tablets, communications are sent discreetly to desired personnel via SMS text or email.
